

Claims

[c1] I claim that an air redistribution system like the Spider Jet mounted on the intake manifold of an internal combustion engine will improve horsepower and fuel efficiency on older carbureted fuel delivery engine and will also improve horsepower fuel efficiency on new fuel rail and injector delivery systems. Preliminary tests indicate the Spider Jet can double the fuel efficiency of most internal combustion engines.